INTRODUCTORY NOTICE.

THE following compilation of the Laws of Alabama, embraces all the statutes of a public and general nature in force at the date of its publication, with the exception of those relating to the county boundaries, which it was found impossible to present in an intelligible shape, without the incorporation of many obsolete and local matters, totally incompatible with the scope of the work. It was undertaken early in the year 1832, in discharge of the duties of an appointment conferred by the general assembly for that purpose; and was, with much difficulty, completed in time to be laid before a committee of revision, who assembled at the seat of government, a few weeks before the meeting of the succeeding legislature. The commissioners, after a laborious and minute examination, which resulted in the correction of some redundancies, as well as an obvious and necessary improvement of the phraseology of most of the laws, made their report to the general assembly then sitting, in which they were pleased to notice the performance of the digester, in terms commendatory alike of the plan of the work, and of the scrupulous fidelity with which his task had been executed. The manuscript was afterwards referred to the judiciary committee of the house of representatives, by whom it underwent a cursory examination, without the detection of any errors. In including the acts of the last session, and in expunging from the original compilation, such laws and parts of laws as had ceased to be in force, although the benefit of this revision was necessarily wanting, yet it is believed the requisite means have been employed to ensure accuracy, both by an unremitting diligence on the part of the compiler, and such free recourse to the advice of eminent members of the bench and bar, as prudence recommended in cases of real or supposed difficulty. To attempt an apology, therefore, for any mistakes or deficiencies which may still exist, would seem to be a needless appeal to public courtesy and forbearance; as the errors, if any, are evidently not the offspring of haste or carelessness, but rather of that fallibility which attends every exercise of the human judgment:—errors which no caution can obviate, nor counsel dispel.

As it respects the general plan and arrangement of the work, a circumstance upon which much of its utility must depend, and in which the merits or demerits of the digester will be most conspicuous, I am sensible, that an equal claim to the favourable opinion of the public, is not to be derived from these high testimonials. Of it, every one will judge for himself, and form his own estimate, how far it falls short of that standard of ideal perfection, which might have been more nearly approached, by the concurrence of abler hands and better materials. To win the praise that is due only to a faultless performance, is as far beyond my hopes, as the ability to deserve it would exceed the expectations of others. But yet, when the intrinsic difficulties of the undertaking are impartially weighed: when it is considered how much those difficulties were enhanced in the present instance by the brief time and inadequate powers allowed me, as well as by the great volume and mixed character of our laws, and the seemingly studied confusion in which they were involved, I may surely promise myself, that a slight difference of opinion, will not be hastily magnified into a ground of censure. All experience proves how chimerical is any attempt, even in regard to matters the most simple, to give universal satisfaction:—and when it is observed how much men of acknowledged abilities have differed from each other, as to the models most proper to be followed in similar works, it is but too easy to foresee, that my labours will form no exception to the usual difficulties of the achievement. Indeed, there are few things about which so great a diversity of tastes is likely to be indulged, as what constitutes the standard of excellence in a digest of statute laws. While some can be pleased with nothing which falls short of a strictly scientific method, and a selection confined to the spirit of the enactment, there are others who carry their veneration for the sources of the law so far, as to be willing to make a digest, not so much a receptacle of the law in force, as a history of the legislation of the country—not only a conservatory of the valuable lights which disciplined minds have shed upon the path of jurisprudence, but a servile and unprofitable memento of everything, whether of form or substance, to which inexperience, caprice, or temerity, has lent the casual impress of a legislative sanction. To the former I need scarcely say, that had their fastidiousness been consulted, it would have rendered the work unfit for general use; while it is hoped the prejudices of the latter will undergo some mitigation from the experience of the last ten years, which sufficiently proves, that laws promulgated in this form are of little more benefit to the public at large, than if they had remained undivulged in the breasts that conceived them. In the middle ground between these extremes it has seemed to me that the maximum of utility was to be sought for: by discarding all laws not in force, unless when necessary to connect a series of dependent enactments, avoiding all repetition, pruning away, as far as practicable, the redundant verbiage, and arranging the matter thus prepared, rather according to that simple method which common sense suggested, than in subservience to technical rules, which, however they may assist the mind in grasping a subject as an entire whole, are usually productive of more embarrassment than advantage when made auxiliary to any attempt to exhibit it in detail. That it was found much easier to conceive of such a model in theory, than to exemplify it practically, will be readily admitted. The inequality of the materials, necessarily produced corresponding variations in the texture of the work. Passages sometimes occurred which from their generality, and the diversity of subjects embraced in them, seemed to present no peculiar claims to a location under any given title. Others, again, were unintelligible, at least in their true sense, without a reference to laws now obsolete:—and in some instances references were made with so little care that, except on a most thorough research, they could scarcely fail to mislead the inquirer. The defects of arrangement unavoidably arising out of these causes, as well as the inherent obscurity of the text itself, I have endeavored to obviate by explanatory notes. The judicial constructions of the statutes by the supreme court, being the only interpretations which can be safely relied on, and, as far as individuals and inferior jurisdictions are concerned, as imperative as the law itself, are, on all material points, briefly adverted to. The decisions upon the attachment laws, and most of those upon the statutes of jeofails are, however, omitted, as they are too numerous even to refer to, and in many instances rendered of difficult application, if not of doubtful authority, the former by recent legislation, and the latter by the rules of proceedings and practice adopted by the supreme court. These rules will be found in an appendix; and also extracts from the acts of congress of 1790, and 1804, directing in what manner the acts, records, and judicial proceedings of the other states shall be authenticated. The frequent demand for those acts in the courts, and the impossibility of obtaining them on the spur of the moment, in many parts of the state, will, with every member of the bar at least, be a sufficient apology for their insertion.

For the plan of the digest, the process adopted in its composition, and the means employed to bring the whole body of our public statute law into so small a compass without any substantial omissions, those who deem the inquiry worth pursuing, are referred to the subjoined report of the commissioners who collated the manuscript with the originals from which it was compiled. And in concluding this brief notice with a reference to that report, in only remains for me to express, however inadequately, the lively sense of obligation I feel towards the commissioners, for the favourable terms in which they ushered my labors into public notice, and to the legislature, for the courteous and confiding spirit in which those expressions were received. Whether the general voice, on a more deliberate examination, will confirm that judgment, remains to be seen. If it should, I will be gratified:—not because praise or censure can qualify that highest source of self approval, the conviction of having given my best abilities, and an untiring zeal to the discharge of the duties committed to me, but because it is grateful to all, even the humblest, to know they have escaped from that fatality which, too often, couples good intentions with abortive deeds.

JOHN G. AIKIN.

July, 1833.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS, EXPLAINING THE PLAN OF THE DIGEST, &c.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama in General Assembly convened:

THE undersigned, commissioners appointed by the last general assembly, to examine the compilation of laws prepared by John G. Aikin, Esquire, under the act passed for that purpose, ask leave, respectfully, to report, that, within the time prescribed by the act, they entered upon the labor, under a just sense of its responsibility, and with a zeal to perform it, in such a manner as to justify the confidence which their selection indicated.

Influenced by these considerations, they first sought to ascertain if the directions of the act had been complied with, by including in the compilation, all laws now in force, of a public and general nature, and whether they had been faithfully transcribed and arranged under proper heads. In doing this, they had necessarily to take a comprehensive survey of the whole ground which had been passed over, consisting of the voluminous and confused body of our statute laws,—which presented obstacles, at every point, utterly insurmountable within the limited time allowed them, without the aid afforded by the copious notes of the digester, made in preparation for, and during the progress of the work,—from which they have not only derived a signal advantage, but have received a sensible demonstration of the labor it has cost, and of the pains taken to achieve an accuracy, which no memory however retentive could ensure: these, by his leave, are submitted to the legislature, together with the digest, in order that any member who chooses, or any committee to which the work may be referred, may employ them in the collation of laws of different dates upon the same subject, and be enabled thereby to determine, at a comparatively nominal expense of time, the extent to which a law is repealed, modified, or superseded, by another subsequently passed.

This examination embraced a minute and laborious comparison of the manuscript with the printed copy of the law, so determined to be in force, and resulted in the correction of all palpable errors it contained; and by a construction of their powers, perhaps somewhat liberal, the commissioners have in many instances, in addition to those which had attracted the attention of the digester, corrected those redundancies which did not affect, but rather obscured the meaning and force of the law. The arrangement of the law under the head to which its subject matter would naturally refer it, being an object of primary importance and of the greatest difficulty, has received the most scrutinizing attention of the commissioners, and has, with but few exceptions, received also the sanction of their best judgment. They have also faithfully examined the former digest and the acts since passed, respectively, in order that no act or part of an act, which ought to be embraced, should be omitted.

In the index, to which their attention has also been particularly directed, the subjects are so thoroughly digested, that a reference to it will, in every instance it is believed, readily supply any deficiency, which may have become unavoidable in the arrangement of the body of the work, from the complication of the matter in its original form: and the marginal notes are so drawn as to convey a brief and sufficiently accurate outline of the subject matter of the laws to which they respectively refer.

The commissioners deem it essentially included in the duty enjoined upon them, of reporting on the correctness and fidelity with which the digester has performed his task, to state in a concise manner, the plan he has adopted; more especially as, in a work of this nature, where the materials are already furnished, the degree of judgment exercised in giving them form, and in a methodical arrangement of the several parts, is the chief consideration, to which either praise or censure can be attached. In these respects, considering the immense difficulty of the labor, and after the most thorough investigation which time would permit, their judgment approves the whole cast of the work, which seems eminently calculated to secure the two objects, upon which mainly depends its utility, as designed for popular use and general circulation, namely, a freedom from obscurity, and a compression of the materials into the smallest possible space. How far the means which the digester has employed, were adequate to the end, it is believed, will be evident upon a bare recital.

1. In the arrangement of the matter, the constitutional provisions applicable to each head, have, for the sake of more convenient reference, been included; and also, under the title "Alabama," such parts of the acts of congress, as relate to the political history of our state, and show the successive stages of its transition from the Mississippi Territory to a member of the Union.

2. All laws of a temporary nature, and those which have expired by their own limitation, except such parts of them as were conceived necessary, to elucidate those now in force, and to direct their application, are excluded.

3. All laws and parts of laws repealed, and the repealing clauses, are excluded.

4. When two or more laws have, through inadvertency, been enacted on the same subject, (which is frequently the case,) the one which is the most full and clear, is retained, and the others either omitted entirely, or such parts only of the more imperfect ones retained, as were not re-enacted.

5. In some instances much useless and embarrassing repetition is avoided, by consolidating a number of acts into one, as in the times of holding the circuit and county courts, salaries of officers, &c. &c. where the substance of a great variety of acts is brought into the compass of a single page.

6. In setting out the law, all superfluous and inoperative expressions, such as "from and after the passage of this act," and the suspending clauses after they are fulfilled, and the law become absolute by lapse of time, and others, are omitted, and the same license is taken with the phrases at the commencement of each act and section, which were only inserted as a constitutional compliance with legislative forms, while on its passage: the preambles are, however, uniformly retained.

7. In arranging the laws, each section has been transferred to the head, to which it was supposed to have relation, without regard to the matter with which it may have been mingled, at its original passage; and the whole are disposed, rather according to the method required by the sense, than with reference to the dates; and to avoid the space which would be occupied by a repetition of the title to each section, a chronological list is made out at the commencement of the work, showing at one view, every act of a public nature, in force, from the organization of the Mississippi Territory, up to the close of the last session of the legislature, and the date of its passage. The acts of each year are numbered, commencing from the first; and by the number and year each section is referred to in the margin. The advantage of this arrangement is, that while it has enabled the digester to throw the whole body of the law, substantially, into new acts, according to the affinity of the matter, (for each title, excepting only the constitutional provisions, may now be regarded as a separate act,) it also shows what position every section occupied at its original passage, in the act from which it was taken.

In deciding under what title any particular law, or part of a law should be placed, it is believed, that a sound judgment has been exercised—that any law desired will be found under the head at which, if not all, at least most persons would seek for it, without the aid of an index. When, however, it was difficult to decide on the propriety of arrangement, as where a particular law or section seemed referable with equal justice to two heads, its place, where omitted, is supplied by a note showing where it may be found.

To this brief outline of the plan and mode of execution, the commissioners will only add, what appears to them a practical commentary of no small importance, namely: that by these means, the whole body of our public statute law, including all embraced in the former digest, and those of nine subsequent years, are brought without confusion, into the compass of but little more than four hundred pages.

The commissioners think it unnecessary to express in more explicit terms, the sentiment of entire approbation to which a thorough investigation of the work has given rise, believing, that resting upon its own excellence for the meed of praise it may justly claim, from the enlightened approbation of the legislature and the people, it has a surer basis than any which their commendation could supply.

The work is, indeed, the best expositor of its own merits, and to that ordeal they dismiss it; convinced, that while any applause they might bestow would pass away with the moment, the work itself, as often as it serves to bring in contrast the confusion and darkness which have overhung our statute laws heretofore, and the method and harmony with which, it is believed, they are now invested, will yield a testimony to its own worth, too solid to be affected by censure, and too ample to need the augmentation of praise. All which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN BROWN, (Red)
CASWELL R. CLIFTON.

EXPLANATION OF THE REFERENCES.

THE title and date of each law, are indicated in the margin by the year and number which stand opposite to them, in the chronological list of statutes prefixed to the digest. The particular section is also given, except when it coincides in number with the section of the title which it forms. When the marginal reference is enclosed in brackets, it denotes the incorporation of a passage from some other law, usually of a few words, and in no instance extending beyond the commencement of the next section. The small letters direct to the side of the page; the figures, to the bottom; those in parentheses, are appropriated to the decisions of the supreme court. The explanatory notes are framed with reference to the arbitrary division of each title into sections or paragraphs commencing at unity. When the note alludes to a section, without specifying the title, it will of course be understood to be that under which the note occurs.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

In Congress, July 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitles them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

Propriety of
tion.

We hold these truths to be self-evident:—that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain, is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

Unalienable
people, &c.

Absolute ty-
object of the king of Great Britain.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

Recitation of injuries and usurpations on the part of
crown.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained: and when so suspended he has utterly neglected to attend to them. He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncon-fortable, and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the mean time, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers, to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighbouring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering, fundamentally, the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavoured to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Petitions for redress unavailing, &c.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connexions and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war, in peace friends.

Appeal to the British people fruitless, &c.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the state of Great Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three; Massachusetts eight; Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one; Connecticut five; New York six; New Jersey four; Pennsylvania eight; Delaware one; Maryland six; Virginia ten; North Carolina five; South Carolina five; and Georgia three. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

Senators'
tion.

3. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

Try impeach-
ments.

6. The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. SECTION 5.

Elections,
how judged.
Quorum in senate and house of rep.

1. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns, and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Rules.

2. Each house may determine the rule of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behaviour, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

They shall, in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to or returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Compensation.

Privileges.

2. No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Members not eligible to office.

SECTION 7.

§ 9. When any person being a non-resident of this state, is indebted to any person, also a non-resident, either by judgment, note, or otherwise, and removes his or her property into, or holds property in this state, which would be subject to attachment for the benefit of a resident of this state, the same benefit shall be extended to such non-resident, as is by law secured to persons residing within this state: Provided, That such non-resident shall give good and sufficient security, residing in this state, to be approved by the judge of the county court where the property or effects may be, or any judge or clerk of the circuit court, for the amount and with the like condition as required in other cases; and that in addition to the oath now required by law, such non-resident plaintiff, his agent or attorney, before obtaining any such attachment as is authorized by this act, shall swear that the defendant against whom such attachment is sued out, has not sufficient property within the state of the residence of said defendant, within the knowledge or belief of such non-resident plaintiff, his agent or attorney, wherefrom to satisfy such debt or demand: And provided also, That no judicial process shall be issued against the estate of any person residing out of this state, by any one, whether a resident or non-resident, unless such process is grounded on an original attachment; or unless the leading process in the suit has been executed on the person of the defendant, when within this state.

§ 13. Any person against whose estate an attachment has issued, his or her attorney, agent or factor, may, at any time before final judgment entered, or a writ of inquiry executed, upon giving special bail, replevy the estate so attached, and plead to issue, so that the plaintiff is not thereby delayed of his trial: Provided, That the defendant shall not be required to give special bail, before he is admitted to appear and plead.

An act passed in 1827, provides "that this act (substantially that of January 14, 1826) shall not be so construed as to prevent any member of the general assembly from negotiating any bill of exchange at said bank, either as drawer, acceptor, or endorser."

¹ An act passed March 10, 1803, entitled "An act concerning divorce and alimony," provides:—

Sec. 3. That divorces from the bond of matrimony, shall be decreed in cases where the parties are within the degrees prohibited by law, in cases where either party is naturally impotent, and in case of adultery in either of the parties, and also for wilful, continual, and obstinate desertion, for the term of five years; but the decree or sentence of divorce, in such cases, shall not render illegitimate the issue born under such marriage.

Sec. 4. That divorces from the bond of matrimony shall also be decreed, where either of the parties had another wife or husband, living at the time of such second or other marriage, and that all marriages, where either of the parties shall have a former wife or husband living at the time of such marriage, shall be invalid from the beginning, and absolutely void.

The act of December 23, 1824, repeals this law as to all the grounds of divorce above specified, except that of "natural impotency," continuing at the time of the application for a divorce by the party injured. The concluding part of each section, however, suggests obvious reasons why they should be retained, at least in this form.

all the pains and penalties which the law prescribes against a marriage, where a former wife or husband is living.

§ 8. The court pronouncing the decree of divorce, shall also decree and order a division of the estate of the parties, in such way as to them shall seem just and right, having due regard to the rights of each party and their children, if any; Provided however, That nothing herein-contained shall be construed to compel either party to divest him or herself of the title to real estate. Ib. Sec. 6. Alimony.

§ 9. Pending a suit for a divorce, the court may make such temporary orders respecting the property and parties, as they shall deem equitable. Ib. Sec. 7. Temporary orders.

§ 10. When a decree shall be rendered for a divorce, it shall be the duty of such court to make out, at the request of the party in whose favor the decree is rendered, a complete copy of the record and evidence in said suit, which shall be certified by said clerk, and by him sealed up and directed to the speaker of the house of representatives of the state of Alabama, and endorsed thereon that it is a decree for a divorce; which decree and proceedings shall be delivered to said speaker by the party, or his or her attorney, applying for the same, within and during the ensuing session of the legislature. Ib. Sec. 8. Copy of proceedings to be delivered to speaker of house of representatives.

§ 11. It shall be the duty of the speaker of the house of representatives, in the presence of the members of the house, to open such record, and cause the same to be read and proceeded on according to the constitution of the state of Alabama. Ib. Sec. 9. Speaker's duty.

12. If it appears to the court that the adultery complained of is occasioned by collusion of the parties, and done with intention to procure a divorce, then no divorce shall be decreed. 1803-(5) Sec. 5. Collusive adultery insufficient.

§ 13. If any persons cohabit together after the divorce, for the cause of adultery, such persons so offending shall be liable to all the pains and penalties provided by the laws then existing against adultery. Ib. Sec. 9. Penalty for cohabiting after divorce for adultery.

§ 14. If it shall appear that the complainant has been guilty of adultery, and has admitted the defendant into conjugal society or embraces, after he or she knew of the criminal fact, or that the said plaintiff (if the husband) allowed of his wife's prostitution, it shall be a bar against a divorce for such previous misconduct. 1894-(15) Sec. 2. Bar against divorce.

§ 15. In all cases where both parties shall be guilty of adultery, it shall be a bar to a divorce. Ib. Sec. 3. Mutual adultery.

§ 16. In order to prevent collusion between the parties, in no case shall the confession of them, or either of them, be taken or received as evidence in any case of divorce. Ib. Sec. 4. Confessions not evidence.

§ 17. In no case of divorce shall the party against whom such divorce may be granted, or who may have been guilty of any of the offences upon which such divorce may have been granted, be allowed to marry again; and in case the said party shall marry again, such marriage is hereby declared null and void; and the party so marrying again shall be liable to such penalties as are prescribed for the crime of adultery. Ib. Sec. 5. Subsequent marriage of the party in fault, void.

§ 18. No person shall be permitted to commence a suit in chancery for a divorce, until he or she shall have been an inhabitant of this state at least three years immediately preceding. Ib. Sec. 6. Complainant must have resided 3 years in the state.

§ 19. Divorce from bed and board may be granted for extreme cruelty in either of the parties, on the application of the party aggrieved, by the same proceedings in the circuit court of the county, in which the complainant may reside, as are, or may be required by law to be had, on bill, praying divorce from the bonds of matrimony, and the divorce of such circuit court shall be final. *Ib. § 21. The courts of chancery shall have power, in cases of the separation of parents, to permit either the mother or father to have the care and education of the children, or any of them, as to said courts may seem just and proper; to be determined and decided on the petition of either party; and in the meantime to issue any injunction, or make any order, that the safety and well-being of any such children may require.

§ 1. THE widow may in all cases waive the provision made for her in the will of her deceased husband, and claim her dower, which shall be assigned her accordingly; in which case she shall receive no part of such provision, unless it appears plainly by the will that the testator intended it in addition to her dower.

§ 2. When the estate of any testator or intestate shall be represented insolvent, and shall not be sufficient, both real and personal, to pay the just debts, the widow of such testator or intestate shall, though there be no children or descendants to them of such testator or intestate, be endowed with one-third only of the lands, tenements, and hereditaments of her deceased husband, any thing in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.^a

§ 3. When any person shall die intestate, or shall make his last will and testament, and not therein make any express provision for his wife, by giving and devising unto her such part or parcel of his real and personal estate, as shall be fully satisfactory to her, such widow may signify her dissent thereto in the superior or county court in the county wherein she resides, at any time within one year after the probate of such will, and then and in that case she shall be entitled to dower in the following manner, to wit: one-third part of all the lands, tenements, and hereditaments of which her husband died seised, and possessed, or had before conveyed, whereof said widow had not relinquished her right of dower, as heretofore provided for by law, which third part shall be and inure to her proper use, benefit and behoof, in and during the term of her natural life; in which said third part shall be comprehended, the dwelling-house in which her husband shall have been accustomed most generally to dwell next before his death, together with the offices, out-houses, buildings, and other improvements thereunto belonging, or appertaining: Provided, That if it should appear to the judges or justices of the court to whom application is made, that the whole of the said dwelling-house, out-houses, buildings, and other improvements thereunto appertaining, cannot be applied to the use of the widow, without manifest injustice to the children, or other heirs, then, and in that case, such widow shall be entitled to such part only as the court may deem reasonable and just.¹

§ 4. When a husband dies intestate, or shall make his last will and testament, and not make provision therein for his wife, as expressed in the first section of this act, she shall be entitled to share in the personal estate, in the following manner, to wit:^a if there be no children, or if there be but one child, she shall be entitled, out of the residue left after paying the debts of the deceased, to one-half: if there be more than one child, but not more than four, in that case she shall be entitled to a child's part; but if there be more than four children, then, and in that case, she shall be entitled to one-fifth part in absolute right.

§ 1. THE general assembly shall have power to pass such penal laws to suppress the evil practice of duelling, extending to disqualification from office, or the tenure thereof, as they may deem expedient.

Whereas, from a false sense of honor, the inhuman, injurious, and detestable practice of duelling, has been too often and unhappily resorted to as a mode of adjusting or settling differences of small magnitude between individuals: And whereas, this barbarous and savage conduct has of late obtained a great degree of prevalence, to the destruction of the lives of some valuable members of society, and involving the feelings of others, who from principle, and respect for the laws of their country, will not engage in this pernicious practice:

§ 2. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That from and after the passing of this act, if any person or persons shall deliver, offer, or send any challenge in writing, verbally, or otherwise, to fight a duel, or shall accept such challenge, or shall fight a duel, and neither of the parties be killed, or shall be the bearer of such challenge, knowing the same to be such; the person or persons so offending, their aiders, or abettors, and each of them, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in the sum of one thousand dollars, and be imprisoned twelve calendar months, and be rendered incapable of holding any office of honor, profit, or trust, under the government of this territory, for and during the term of five years from the time of such conviction.

§ 3. If any person or persons, residing or being in this territory, shall promote, concert, plan, or in any manner encourage the fighting of a duel between persons residing or being in this territory, whether the same duel be fought or not within this territory or elsewhere, such person or persons shall be subject to the pains and penalties prescribed in the preceding section of this act.

§ 4. If any person residing or being in this territory, do hereafter actually fight a duel, and either of the combatants be killed, the survivor, with such other person or persons who may have aided or assisted in the said duel, shall be deemed guilty of wilful murder, and on conviction thereof, shall suffer death.

§ 5. And whereas, persons guilty of the crimes specified in the foregoing section escape punishment through want of sufficient testimony, occasioned by the secret combination of the parties concerned: Be it therefore further enacted, When other evidence cannot be had of offences committed against this act, it shall and may be lawful for any justice of the peace, upon his own knowledge, or strong suspicion of such offences, or on credible information thereof, to him given on oath or otherwise, to issue a summons, or at his discretion, a warrant in the nature of a capias, against any person or persons suspected to be concerned in such offences, which summons or warrant shall be returnable before one or more justices of the peace, who are hereby empowered, if necessary, to issue interrogatories in the premises to such person or persons, and to compel them to answer the same fully upon oath; and in case of their refusal, to cause them to be confined until they shall comply: Provided, That the person or persons so answering fully and satisfactorily, shall be wholly and entirely released and discharged from all manner of punishment for such offence or offences as he or they may be implicated in, by his or their answers as aforesaid; and the justice before whom such testimony is delivered, shall take recognizance or recognizances of such person or persons, binding him or them to appear at the succeeding superior court for the district or county, in which the offender or offenders shall reside, as in other cases.

² This properly belongs to the general head of "Crimes and Misdemeanors;"—but as the legislature has thought fit to make it the subject of a distinct system of laws, and as those relating to the duelling oath contain nothing of a penal character, a separate title for all the enactments on this subject was deemed preferable.

Persons answering fully to be exonerated.

§ 6. Each and every justice of the peace and attorney general¹ in this territory, is hereby enjoined to carry this act into strict execution, and prosecute all offenders within the meaning thereof. And if any justice of the peace or attorney general, having knowledge or information of any offence committed against this act, shall fail to perform the several duties required of them respectively, such neglect of duty is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor, and for which such justice or attorney general shall be removed from office, and be rendered incapable of holding any office of honor, trust, or profit, under the government of this territory, for and during the term of two years thereafter.

"I, ——— do solemnly swear, (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I have, neither directly nor indirectly given, accepted, or knowingly carried a challenge in writing, or otherwise, to any person or persons (being a citizen of this state,) to fight in single combat or otherwise, with any deadly weapon, either in or out of this state, or aided or abetted in the same, since the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six; and that I will, neither directly nor indirectly, give, accept, or knowingly carry a challenge in any manner whatsoever, to any person or persons (being a citizen of this state) to fight in single combat or otherwise, with any deadly weapon, in or out of the state, or in any manner whatsoever aid or abet the same, during the time for which I am elected, or during my continuance in office, or during my continuance in the discharge of any public function." "And upon his or their refusing to take the oath aforesaid, his or their seat, if a member of the general assembly, or his or their office, or public function, or appointment, shall be vacated, and shall be filled in the same manner as if he or they had resigned. ^bAny attorney or counsellor at law, failing or refusing to take said oath, shall not be permitted to practise as such in any court in this state.

Id. Sec. 2.
Form of oath for such as emigrate to the state after January 1, 1826.

¹ This act was passed verbatim, December 6, 1821, except that it required the oath against duelling to be retrospective as far as the first of January, 1821, with a corresponding variation in the case of emigrants. An act passed December 24, 1823, empowers those persons who had taken an oath under the act of 1819, to release themselves from it, by taking and subscribing the oath prescribed in the act of December 6, 1821. All these acts are covered by the repealing clause of the act of January, 1826—and are now no further in force, than as interpreters of the rights and liabilities of such as conformed to their provisions, while unrepealed.

Elections
ducted.
a The act
following.

§ 8. Said elections shall in all other respects be conducted in conformity to an act entitled "An act to divide the state into districts, for electing representatives to Congress,"^a passed December 28, 1822.¹

¹ There is an evident want of caution in the wording of this act in reference to others previously passed on the same subject. It seems scarcely probable, however, that the vague language of the 8th section, could have been intended to revive the 6th and 7th sections of the act of 1822, which were expressly repealed by the 1st section of an act, passed January 12, 1828, and their provisions supplied, with some variation, by the second section of the same,—which will be found appended to the 5th section of the act of 1822.—(See § 12.) By the repealed parts of the act of 1822, above referred to, the returning officers were required to meet on the second Monday in September, after the election, but if prevented by any accident, from meeting at that time, their returns might be received "on the second Monday thereafter." They also provided, that in case of an equal number of votes between two or more candidates, the returning officers should decide the election. In another respect, the intention of the legislature is left still more doubtful. The acts, both of 1822 and 1823, require the returning officers to meet at the court-house of the coun-

§ 9. The election of representatives from this state to the congress of the United States, shall be held at the same times and places, and be regulated and conducted by the same law for holding elections for members to represent the several counties in the general assembly of this state, and at the same times and places every two years thereafter; all of which elections are to be conducted by the sheriffs, or by other persons legally appointed therefor, in like manner as the annual elections of the members of the state legislature; and the person having the greatest number of votes in any of the aforesaid districts, shall be the member for that district in the congress of the United States.

Representatives to congress when and how elected.

§ 10. The managers of each election which may be held for the several counties in this state, shall keep a separate box, in which shall be deposited the ballots for a representative from this state to congress.

Ib. Sec. 3.
Managers to keep a separate box for ballots.

§ 11. Immediately upon the close of the elections in each county, the presiding officer at each place of election shall, in the presence of the inspectors, proceed to count in a public manner, the ballots, and shall keep an account in writing, of the number of votes each candidate or person voted for shall have, and in presence of the inspectors, cast up the scrolls, and make a correct statement of the number of votes given thereat, for each candidate or person voted for in each county; which shall be certified by the sheriff or other persons appointed to conduct the elections, and a majority of the inspectors.

Ib. Sec. 4.
Elections, how conducted.

§ 12. The managers of the several election precincts in each of the counties composing the several election districts throughout this state, where counties have more precincts than one, shall make returns to the sheriffs at the court-houses or seats of justice in their respective counties, within two days thereafter, and the managers aforesaid shall return all the tickets so counted out, into the election box, together with the clerks' lists of votes sealed up, to the principal managers at the court-house in their respective counties; and it shall be the duty of the said managers, to keep said election boxes thus returned to them, for the space of sixty days, at the end of which time, the said votes shall be destroyed by the managers of the elections held at the court-houses in each county; unless notice shall be given to said managers, that some part or parts of said election will be contested; in that case, it shall be the duty of said managers to preserve the same.

Ib. Sec. 5.
Managers shall make returns to the sheriff within two days after the election.

Votes to be destroyed unless election is contested.

^a The sheriffs or other returning officers of the counties of each district shall meet on the third Monday of September, next after each election, at the court-house of the county first mentioned in their respective districts; and when said sheriffs or other returning officers shall meet, the polls for the different counties shall, by said sheriffs or other returning officers, (as the case may be,) in the presence of two justices of the peace, who are to be summoned by the sheriff or other returning officer of the county where they shall meet for that purpose, be examined and compared, and a certificate under the hands and seals of said returning officers shall be given to the candidate in each district, for whom the greatest number of votes shall have been given in each district: but if two or more candidates shall have an ty first named in the district,—and the act of 1828, gives the casting vote to the returning officer of that county. But the sheriff of the county first named was then also the returning officer for that district. By the act of 1832, this is not the case;—and although the centrality of the county to which the returning officer for the district is assigned, as well in the present as the former law, certainly indicates an intention, that the polls should be compared there, yet the positive requisition of the acts of 1822 and 1828, would seem still to be left in full force.

equal number of votes, the returning officer of the first county in each district mentioned,¹ shall determine which of them shall be the representative, and a certificate thereof shall be given by the returning officers accordingly.

§ 13. When any person shall be duly elected representative under this act, and have obtained a certificate of his election, which shall be signed by a majority of all the returning officers of the district, the governor, on such certificate being produced to him, shall issue a commission, certifying his appointment as a representative of this state to the congress of the United States.

Ib. Sec. 9. Compensation of returning officers.

§ 14. Every sheriff or returning officer shall be allowed the sum of three dollars, for every day he shall necessarily attend, for the purpose of comparing said polls, and also the amount of his ferriages; which shall be paid by the treasurer of the state, on affidavit of the sheriff or returning officer aforesaid.

Ib. Sec. 10. Persons eligible.

§ 15. No person shall be eligible as a representative to congress from any of the aforesaid districts, who is not at the time of his election, a resident citizen of the district in which he is elected.

Ib. Sec. 12. Vacancies, how filled.

§ 16. When any vacancy shall happen by death, resignation, or otherwise, in the representation of the people of this state, in the house of representatives of the United States, the governor of this state, or the person exercising the powers thereof, shall issue his writ or writs of election, to the sheriffs of the counties of which the congressional district is composed, commanding such sheriffs on a certain day therein particularly expressed, to hold an election to supply such vacancy; and such writs, so issued by the governor, shall be delivered to the sheriffs, to whom the same may be directed, at least thirty days before the day appointed for such election, who shall give public notice thereof throughout the county, at least twenty days before such election; and such elections shall be holden and conducted in the same manner as the general elections are, for electing representatives to the congress of the United States.

MODE OF CONTESTING ELECTIONS.

Sec. 1. How to commence contest of the election of member of the general assembly.

§ 1. When any person, being a qualified voter of the proper county or district, shall contest the election of any one who may be declared to be elected as a member to either branch of the general assembly of this state, it shall be his duty to give the person, whose election he disputes, a notice in writing, setting forth the grounds for such contest; which notice shall, by the sheriff, coroner, or some constable of the proper county, be served personally upon the party whose election is contested, or a copy thereof left at his usual place of residence, within thirty days after the day upon which said election shall have been holden.

Sec. 2. Mode of taking testimony.

§ 2. The evidence which may be desired by either party in the prosecution or defence of any contest as aforesaid, shall be taken by deposition as follows:—the party wishing the evidence of any witness, shall apply to a justice of the peace of the county where the witness resides, for a subpoena to said witness, to appear before him or any other justice, at a certain time and place not less than five days from the issuance thereof; of which time, place, and object, said justice shall notify the opposite party at least five days.

§ 3. Notices to take depositions by either party, may be served by the sheriff, coroner, or any constable of the proper county, by leaving a copy at the usual place of residence of the party against whom the testimony is to be used.

§ 4. Any justice of the peace before whom a witness may be summoned for the purpose aforesaid, shall take down in writing all that the witness deposes in relation to the matter at issue, and also the questions that may be propounded by either party or his attorney, and the answers thereto; and shall, after filing away a true copy of the whole deposition in his office, carefully seal up and transmit the original by mail, to the president of the senate, or the speaker of the house of representatives, as the case should be, at the seat of government.

§ 5. The deposition of any witness residing out of this state, may be taken in a contest as aforesaid, in the same manner they are now taken of a like witness, in suits at law.

§ 8. When any election shall be holden either for a justice of the peace, or a constable, within the limits of any captain's company, in the several counties in this state, it shall be the duty of the persons holding such election, to retain in their possession, sealed up and secured, the tickets or votes given in at such election, for the space of fifteen days; and should notice be given to them within that time, by any of the candidates, that the election will be contested, then to make return of all the tickets or votes, given in at any such election, to the clerk of the county court, who shall keep the same, together with their certificate of the person elected, for the space of fifteen days, in order that said elections may be contested by any one being a candidate: Provided, That if the notice as aforesaid should not be given to the persons aforesaid, within the period aforesaid, it shall be their duty to destroy the tickets or votes, as is now in other cases prescribed by law.

§ 9. When any election for justice or constable, as aforesaid, shall be contested, the person or persons contesting the same, shall, within the said fifteen days, notify the clerk of the county court in writing, of such his intentions:—it shall be the duty of the clerk to issue a summons to all the candidates offering either to fill justices' places or constables', as the case may be, requiring them to appear on a certain day in said county court, and show cause, if any they have, why the certificate of the election should not be returned, as is now required by law.

Preamble.

§ 13. Whosoever, on a sale made under any execution, the amount of such sale shall exceed the principal, interest, and costs, the sheriff or other officer, shall pay such excess or surplus to the debtor, his executors, administrators, or agent; and if any sheriff or other officer shall fail or refuse to pay such surplus or excess, when required, such sheriff or other officer, his or their security or securities, his or their executors or administrators, shall, each and every of them, be liable to the like penalty and judgment in favor of the said debtor, as is prescribed and directed by law, in favor of the plaintiff against the sheriff, for not paying the principal, interest, and costs, levied on an execution.

§ 14. When any sheriff or other officer, under any execution, shall receive the whole or any part of the money for which the said execution was issued, and the person against whom such execution may have issued, his executors or administrators, shall obtain an injunction to such execution, or any part of the money mentioned therein, before the money received by such sheriff or other officer, is paid to the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, or his executors or administrators; in every such case, the sheriff or other officer, his executors or administrators, shall repay the person or persons against whom such execution issued, his or their executors, administrators, or agent, the money so received, or such part thereof as may be enjoined to the person having a right to demand the same; such sheriff or other officer, and their securities, his and their executors and administrators, and every of them, shall be liable to the like penalty and judgment in favor of the person, his executors or administrators, by whom the said injunction is obtained, as is directed by law in favor of the plaintiff, against the sheriff, for not paying money levied on an execution.

§ 15. After obtaining a final decree for lands, slaves, or money, or things of a specific nature, in any court having chancery jurisdiction, the clerk of such court shall, upon the request of the party obtaining such decree, issue any writ of execution, either a feri facias, capias ad satisfaciendum, habere facias possessionem, or any judicial process which may now issue from any court of common law, according to the nature of the case, for carrying the said decree into effect; which writ shall issue in the name of the state of Alabama,^a and bear teste and be signed by the clerk of the court; and all process so issued shall be executed and returned to the clerk's office from which the same issued, from term to term, on the return day thereof, by the officer or officers to whom the same shall be directed, and shall have the same operation, and possess the same force, to all intents and purposes, as similar process issued upon judgments at common law: the officer or officers to whom any such process is directed, shall be subject to the like penalties for misconduct or neglect, and the court shall exercise in this and in all cases relating to such process, the same powers as if the said process had issued upon a judgment obtained at common law: but nothing herein contained shall prohibit any person from proceeding to carry any order or decree in chancery into execution, in any manner of which he might have availed himself, before the passing of this act.

§ 17. Be it therefore enacted, &c. That all process which heretofore issued against goods and chattels, shall hereafter issue against lands and tenements, in the same manner as against goods and chattels in the case of foreigners and non-residents ; and the sheriff, upon such attachment, execution or other process, shall proceed to levy the same upon the goods and chattels of the defendant, in the first instance, if any there be ; but if to the best of his knowledge, there be no such goods and chattels, or not sufficient to answer the plaintiff's demand, he shall execute the same upon the lands and tenements of such non-resident, to the amount of the whole debt ; or of so much as may remain more than the value of the goods and chattels so found ; and such lands and tenements shall be liable, under the restrictions aforesaid, to be sold to satisfy the judgment of the plaintiff ; and he shall sell the same at the most public place in his county, after his having given at least forty days' notice, by advertisement in the public gazettes, before the day of sale.

§ 32. If a distringas issue in detinue, the court for good cause shown, may direct it to be superseded, so far as it relates to the specific thing, and to be executed for the alternative price or value only, if fixed in the judgment, or if the same shall afterwards be fixed by a writ of inquiry.

ter manifestation of the said time, such sheriff, coroner, or other officer, his deputy or agent, shall upon the receipt of any such writ, without fee for doing the same, endorse upon the back thereof the day of the month and year when he received the same; and if two or more writs shall be delivered against the same person on the same day, that which was first delivered, shall be first satisfied. If any sheriff, coroner, or other officer, to whom any execution shall be delivered, shall fail or neglect to endorse thereon, the day of the month and year when he received the same, every such person, for every such failure, shall be liable, on a motion to be made before the court from whence the execution issued, to a penalty not exceeding fifteen per centum, upon the amount of said execution, if it be for money; and if it be for a specific thing, one hundred dollars, to the use of the party injured, upon giving ten days' previous notice of such motion; and shall moreover be liable to the action of the party aggrieved, for all damages arising from such failure.

Execution from justice of the peace, to bind property from the date of its levy.
Constable's duty in satisfying different executions.
To endorse the time of delivery.

§ 37. Executions issued by a justice of the peace shall operate as a lien on the property of the defendant from the time of the levy and not sooner; but if more than one execution shall come into the hands of the constable at the same time against the said defendant, if all cannot be satisfied, each shall be entitled to a ratable proportion of the proceeds: and if more than one execution shall come into the hands of the same constable against the same defendant at different times, then the one first delivered, shall be first satisfied: and to show the priority between different executions, the constable shall endorse on each the time of delivery, and whether it be the first, second, or third, &c. in hand against the same party—and the lien so created by the levy of an execution by a constable, shall not be over-reached by the lien of any execution in the hands of the sheriff, not previously levied.

Ib. Sec. 2.
Priority of lien between judgment creditors.

§ 38. The lien created by the delivery of an execution from a court of record to the sheriff, shall continue to bind the property of the defendant, as between different judgment creditors in the courts of record in this state, in the following manner, viz: If a term shall elapse after the return of the first execution, before an alias shall be sued out and delivered to the sheriff, the lien created by the delivery of the first writ of execution shall be cancelled and of no avail;—but if a term shall not have elapsed, and the alias shall be delivered to the sheriff before the sale of property, under a junior execution in favour of another creditor, the lien shall continue notwithstanding the alias may not have been delivered until after such junior execution; but if such alias shall not be delivered until after the sale under such junior execution, the lien of the latter shall prevail.

Ib. Sec. 3.
First lien may be forfeited by failure to indemnify sheriff.

§ 39. If the title of the property levied on be so doubtful as to induce the sheriff to require a bond of indemnity, if the party having the prior lien shall fail or refuse to give such bond, then the person having the next lien, shall be authorized to give such bond, and have the property sold for his benefit.

§ 40. No goods or chattels whatsoever, lying or being in or upon any messuage, lands, or tenements, which are or shall be leased for life or lives, term of years, or will, or otherwise, shall be liable to be taken by virtue of any writ of execution on any pretence whatever, unless the party so taking the same shall, before the removal of the goods from such premises, pay or tender to the landlord or lessor thereof, or his agent, all money due for the rent of the said premises at the time of taking such goods, or chattels, in execution: Provided nevertheless, That such rent arrears do not amount to more than one year's rent, and if more be due, then the party suing out such execution, paying or tendering to such landlord, or his agent, one year's rent, may proceed to execute his judgment, and the sheriff or officer levying the same, is hereby empowered and required to levy and pay to the plaintiff, as well the money so paid for the rent, as the execution money.¹

§ 41. It shall not be lawful for any sheriff or other officer, to levy a writ of fieri facias or other execution on the planted crop of a debtor, or person against whom an execution may issue, until the crop is gathered.

5. RIGHT OF PROPERTY EXECUTED.

§ 43. If any sheriff shall levy an execution on property, and a doubt shall arise whether the right of such property is in the debtor or not, such sheriff may apply to the plaintiff, his attorney or agent, for his bond, with good security, for indemnification for the sale of the property seized; which, if the plaintiff, his attorney or agent, refuses or fails to do, within ten days after such application, the sheriff or other officer shall be justified in delivering up such property to the party from whose possession it was taken.

1807—(21)
Sec. 16.
Where the right of property is doubtful, the sheriff may demand indemnity.

§ 44. When the sheriff shall return on any execution "that there is no property to be found in his county belonging to the defendant," and it shall be suggested by the plaintiff that the defendant has property in his own right, but hath fraudulently conveyed the same, for the purpose of defrauding his creditor, or to avoid the payment of the execution; notice in the nature of a scire facias shall be directed by the court to issue to the person or persons in whose hands such property is supposed to be, or having such fraudulent conveyance, and on the return of the scire facias executed as in other cases, an issue shall be made up and tried by a jury; and if the jury shall find the conveyance to be fraudulent, or without valuable consideration, the property thus fraudulently conveyed or made over shall be subject to the plaintiff's execution, in the hands of the defendant, or the person or persons thus notified.

§ 46. In all trials of the right of property as aforesaid, when the jury may be of opinion that the claim was made to said property for purposes of vexation or delay, they shall have power to give such damages as the case may require, not exceeding fifteen per cent. on the amount of the execution.

§ 47. Whenever any claim to property shall be made, the same shall not be dismissed, discontinued, or withdrawn, but by the consent of the opposite party.

§ 73. Whereas, doubts have arisen in what manner judgment should be rendered against any sheriff, coroner, or marshal of a corporation, who shall fail to return an execution to the office from whence it issued, on or before the return day thereof:

1807—(21)
Sec. 31.
Judgment against sheriff, &c., on failing to return execution.

Be it enacted, That when any writ of execution, or attachment for not performing a decree in chancery, shall come into the possession of any sheriff, coroner, or marshal of a corporation, and he shall fail to return the same to the office from whence it issued, on or before the return day thereof, it shall be lawful for the court, ten days' previous notice being given, upon motion of the party injured, to fine such sheriff, coroner, or marshal of a corporation, in any sum not exceeding five dollars per month for every hundred dollars contained in the judgment or decree on which the execution or attachment so by him detained was founded, and so in proportion for any greater or less sum, counting the aforesaid months from the return day of the execution or attachment, to the day of rendering judgment for the said fine.

§ 74. If any sheriff or other officer shall make return on any writ of fieri facias or venditioni exponas, that he hath levied the debt, damages, or costs, as in such writ is required, or any part thereof, and shall not immediately pay the same to the party to whom the same is payable, or to his attorney, or shall return upon any writ of capias ad satisfaciendum, or attachment for not performing a decree in chancery, for payment of any sum of money, that he hath taken the body or bodies of the defendant or defendants, and hath the same ready to satisfy the money in such writ mentioned, and shall have actually received such money of the defendant or defendants, or have suffered him, her, or them

2. APPEALS FROM JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

 Sec. 2.
 Appeal may be taken within five days after judgment. Appellant to give bond. Justice to summon witnesses. Interest and cost on affirmation of judgment.
 1814—(17)
 Sec. 3.
 Sum not exceeding 20 dollars to be tried without jury.
 Over 20 dollars, to be tried de novo, as other causes.
 Justice to send up statement and all papers.
 1816—(1)
 On affirmation, judgment to be awarded against principal and security.

§ 9. Any person aggrieved by the judgment of any justice of the peace, may, within five days thereafter, appeal to the next superior court sitting for his county, first giving to such justice, bond, with good security, in double the amount of such judgment, conditioned to prosecute such appeal with effect; and in case he be cast therein, to pay and satisfy the condemnation of the court. (1) And the justice before whom the cause was originally tried, shall issue subpoenas for all witnesses that the parties in such appeals may require. And in case the superior court affirms the judgment of the justice below, execution with interest and costs shall issue as in other cases.

§ 10. In all cases where the sum claimed does not exceed twenty dollars, the trial shall be by the court without the intervention of a jury; and in cases where the sum claimed exceeds twenty dollars, the court shall try such appeal de novo, as any other cause is tried, at the first term, on an issue (2) to be made up at or before the trial; and it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace trying such cause, to send up to the clerk of the superior court of his county, a statement of the case, with all the papers and the bond thereunto belonging, before the sitting of said superior court.

§ 11. Whenever any judgment rendered by any justice shall be removed into any superior court, by appeal, certiorari, or otherwise, and the judgment of the justice be affirmed, judgment shall be entered against the security as well as the principal, and execution may issue against both, or either of them.

(1) The appeal bond is sufficient evidence that judgment was rendered. McAlpin & Read v. Pool, Min. Rep. 316. After the term to which an appeal is returned, if the appellee has been notified or has appeared, it cannot be dismissed for the insufficiency of the appeal bond, unless a motion to dismiss is made at the return term and continued; and the court before dismissal should allow a good and sufficient bond to be given in open court, if the first was informally or inartificially taken by the justice without the neglect or default of the appellant. Jenkins v. Cauley, 1 Stewt. Rep. 61. Payne v. Martin, ib. 407. But if no bond be filed, a dismissal may be claimed at any time. Payne v. Martin, ib. 407.

(2) But if the defendant will not plead, and the instrument ascertains the amount due, judgment may be entered by default as in other cases. Bevin v. Goodman, Min. Rep. 90.

§ 12. In cases of appeals from judgments of justices of the peace, the court before whom such appeal shall be brought, shall proceed to try the same according to the justice and equity of the case, without regarding any defect in the warrant, capias, summons, or other proceedings of the justice of the peace, before whom the same was tried. (1)

§ 13. Appeals shall lie from justices of the peace to the respective circuit or county courts, under the same regulations as heretofore prescribed by law, for taking appeals to the circuit courts.

§ 14. In all appeals taken by virtue of this act, from a justice of the peace, when it shall be made to appear to the court, that the appeal was taken merely for delay, the court shall award fifteen per cent. damages. (2)

§ 15. Any cause removed by writ of certiorari, shall stand for trial at the first term of the court to which the same is returnable.

§ 16. The clerk of the court after issuing any writ of certiorari, is authorized and required, at the request of either of the parties, to issue subpoenas for witnesses, returnable to the same term to which the writ of certiorari is returnable.

§ 17. Whenever the defendant in any cause that shall have been decided by a justice of the peace, shall appeal from the judgment of such justice, and the appellate court shall render judgment in favour of the plaintiff for a less sum than that recovered before such justice; such appellate court may enter judgment for the costs of such appeal, either against the plaintiff or the defendant according to the justice of the case: ^a but where the plaintiff or successful party shall appeal, and shall not recover more than was adjudged by the justice of the peace, in that case he shall pay all the costs.

§ 18. No appeal shall be tried, unless it appear to the court that the appellee, his agent, or attorney, shall have had five days' notice of such appeal previous to the term at which the same shall be tried, or unless the return of non est inventus be made by the constable on the notice issued by the justice, and for want of such notice or return, the cause shall stand for trial at the ensuing term.

§ 19. On all appeals taken, the justice shall issue a notice to the appellee of the same, which shall be served and returned by the constable, and sent up with the papers.

3. Costs.

§ 20. In all cases, in civil actions, the party in whose favor judgment shall be given, or in case of nonsuit, dismissal, or discontinuance, the defendant, shall be entitled to full costs, except when it is or may be otherwise directed by law.

§ 21. In all suits brought to recover damages for slander or trespass, assault and battery, the plaintiff shall not recover more costs than damages, if the damages do not exceed five dollars; unless the judge

4. DETINUE.

§ 30. In any action of detinue, if the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shall make affidavit that the property sued for belongs to the plaintiff, and shall give bond with sufficient security, to be approved of by the clerk of the court issuing the writ, conditioned that if the plaintiff shall fail in the suit, he shall pay the defendant all costs and damages he may sustain by the wrongful suing out of the writ, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court issuing the writ by endorsement on the same, to require the sheriff or other officer serving it, to take the property sued for into his possession, unless the defendant shall give bond with sufficient security in double the amount of the value of the property to be taken, payable to the plaintiff, and conditioned that the defendant, if cast in the suit, shall within thirty days after its determination, deliver to the plaintiff the property recovered by such suit.

§ 82. Whenever a motion shall be made against any officer of any of the courts of this state for not paying over any money received by him in his official capacity, and the receipt of the same shall not appear by the record or any paper filed in the clerk's office, it shall be the duty of the court to cause an issue to be made up, and tried by the jury attending the court; and in case it shall be found by the jury that the same has been received by the officer against whom the motion shall be made, judgment shall be rendered by the court against the said officer, for the principal, interest, and such damages as are now in such cases directed by law.

§ 86. In case the defendant, after such judgment, and before execution, shall pay into court, to the use of the plaintiff, the damages assessed, and costs, a stay of execution shall be entered upon the record; or if, by reason of an execution, the plaintiff shall be fully paid all the damages and costs, and the charges of the execution, the defendant's body, lands, or goods shall be thereupon forthwith discharged from the execution, which shall likewise be entered upon record; but in each case the judgment shall, notwithstanding, remain as a farther security, to answer to the plaintiff such damages as he may sustain by any further breach of covenant contained in the same indenture, deed, or writing; upon which the plaintiff may have a scire facias upon the said judgment against the defendant, his heirs, executors, or administrators, suggesting other breaches of the said covenants or agreements, and to summon him or them respectively to show cause why execution should not be awarded upon the said judgment; upon which there shall be the like proceeding as was in the action upon the said bond, for assessing of damages upon trial of issue joined upon such breaches, or inquiring thereof upon empannelling a jury in manner aforesaid; and upon payment or satisfaction as aforesaid, of such future damages, costs, and charges, as aforesaid, all further proceedings on the judgment are again to be stayed, and so toties quoties; and the defendant's body, land, or goods, shall be discharged out of execution as aforesaid.

When a plea in abatement shall be pleaded, and upon argument, the same shall be adjudged insufficient, the plaintiff shall recover against the defendant, full costs to the time of overruling such plea, including the costs of court.

§ 3. The commander-in-chief, for the time being, may at his discretion, aid and assist the citizens of any portion of the state, in erecting temporary works and means of protection; and build such redoubts, and establish such military posts as he shall deem necessary and best calculated to promote the common defence.

§ 4. He shall have authority to remove to some temporary place of safety, and deposit such portion of the arms, ammunition, and military stores, at any time deposited in the arsenals of the state, as circumstances may appear to require, and when necessary in his opinion, to provide and furnish sufficient guards to protect public arsenals, until it be found expedient to call out into the public service detachments of militia, on whom this duty shall in part devolve; and it shall also be his duty from time to time, to examine, or cause to be examined, by some proper officer, the situation of the several arsenals throughout the state, to require security from the arsenal keepers, and to remove them for negligence or other improper conduct, or for incapacity for performing the duties devolving on them as such, and to appoint in case of removal, other persons to supply the vacancy thereby occasioned.

Major-general to appoint adjutant-general. Duties of adjutant-general of division.

Major-general may appoint inspector-general, quartermaster-general, and two aids.

"There is no subject of more importance, and none less attended to, in the whole compass of the militia laws, than that of returns; because by a faithful, correct, and regular attention to this matter, the state is enabled to receive her quota of the public arms appropriated by the act of congress; and no subject appears to be less understood, although many acts of the legislature have been passed, requiring them, and pointing out the mode in which they shall be made. And such, in fact, have been the multiplicity of legislative enactments upon the subject, that the whole is now completely obscured and enveloped in doubt and uncertainty. If I may be allowed, however, to hazard a conjecture upon the matter, I would say, that the mode is not altered since the year 1822, except that additional duties are assigned adjutants of regiments, by an act passed in 1823, (See § 14 of this Chapter.) I should conceive, however, that it is still the duty of adjutants of regiments, to make a return of the strength and condition of their several regiments to the assistant-adjutants-general of brigades, who consolidate the regimental returns, and forward the same to the adjutants-general of their respective divisions, who thereupon consolidate the brigade returns, and forward a copy thereof to the adjutant and inspector general of the state at the seat of government, who consolidates the division returns, and forwards the same to the War Department at Washington, for the purpose of enabling the proper officer there, to decide upon the quota of arms to which this state is entitled. But lest there might be a failure in some of these officers, the act of 31st December, 1823, made it the additional duty of the regimental adjutants to forward a copy of their returns direct to the adjutant and inspector general of the state. In the clause of the above mentioned act, respecting these duties, there is evidently a mistake in saying 'Assistant-Adjutants-General,' which ought to have been adjutants-general of divisions, from whom the adjutant and inspector general of the state receives the returns."

CHAPTER VIII.—Drafts.

§ 1. It shall be the duty of each and every captain, to subject to a draft each person liable to do militia duty, who may at any time have been enrolled in his company, unless he knows such person has actually removed permanently from his district, or unless such person so enrolled shall produce a certificate from some officer commanding a company, that he is duly enrolled in the company of the officer so certifying.¹

Substitutes liable to be drafted.

¹ This is understood to be some officer of a volunteer company, as the person would have no right to enrol himself in any other beat or district company, but the one in which he resides.

² The peculiar phraseology of this section is owing to the fact, that in 1814 when it was passed, there was no higher officer in a regiment than a "lieutenant-colonel"—the alternative words "or officer commanding a regiment," render the provisions of the section equally applicable to the present organization of the militia of this state.

CHAPTER IX.—Volunteers and Uniform.

Ib. Sec. 3.
Inquest to be returned to county court, and citation to issue to all interested.

Ib. Sec. 4.
How the notice is to be given when owner of land is an infant, person non compos mentis, or non-resident.

Ib. Sec. 5.
When builder owns the land on both sides of the stream.

§ 1. EVERY water grist-mill which shall at any time grind for toll, shall be deemed and held to be, a public mill.

§ 2. It shall not be lawful for any person to erect a mill so as to overflow any other mill, or create a nuisance to the neighbourhood.

§ 3. If any person owning lands on one side of any water-course, and desiring to build a water grist-mill, saw-mill, cotton-gin, or other useful water-works on such lands, and to erect a dam across the same for working said mill, shall not himself have the fee-simple property in the lands on the opposite side thereof against which he would abut his dam; or if he should have lands adjoining others through which it may be necessary to dig a ditch or canal, in order to erect such mill on his own lands, he shall make application for a writ of ad quod damnum to the clerk of the county court of the county wherein the lands proposed for the abutment, ditch, or canal are, which clerk shall thereupon issue such process, directed to the sheriff of the county, commanding him to summon and empannel seven freeholders or landholders, to meet upon the lands so proposed for the abutment, ditch, or canal, on a certain day to be named by the clerk, and inserted in the said writ, of which ten days' previous notice shall be given by the sheriff to the proprietor, his agent, or tenant.

§ 4. The freeholders or landholders so taken, shall be charged by the sheriff, impartially and to the best of their skill and judgment, to view the land so proposed for the abutment, and to locate and circumscribe by certain metes and bounds, one acre thereof, having due regard therein to the interest of both parties, and to appraise the same according to its true value; to examine the lands above and below of the property of others, which may probably be overflowed, and to say what damage it will be to the several proprietors, and whether the mansion-house of any such proprietors, offices, curtilages, or gardens thereunto immediately belonging, or orchards, will be overflowed; to inquire whether, in their opinion, the health of the neighbours will be materially annoyed by the stagnation of the waters, and if it be a ditch or canal proposed through another's land, then to inquire what damage the same may be to the proprietor, and assess the same accordingly.

§ 5. The inquest so made and sealed by the said jurors, or a majority of them, together with the writ, shall be returned by the sheriff to the succeeding county court, who shall thereupon order summonses to be issued to the several persons, proprietors or tenants, of the land so located or found liable to damage, if they be to be found within the county, and if not then to their agents therein, if any they have, to show cause why the party applying should not have leave to build said mill and dam.

§ 6. If the lands above proposed for the abutment, ditch, or canal, should be the property of an infant, or person non compos mentis, then the notices heretofore directed to be given, shall be given to his guardian, if any he hath, if not, then it shall be the duty of the orphans' court to appoint one, to whom such notices may be given; and if said lands shall belong to non-residents, the notices before required shall be published three weeks successively in the nearest gazette, which shall be deemed as good and effectual as if served on the parties personally.

§ 7. In like manner, if the person proposing to build such mill and dam, shall have the property in the lands on both sides of the stream, yet application shall be made to the clerk of the county court, wherein the mill-house will stand, for a like writ, which writ shall be directed, executed and returned, as prescribed in the former case.

§ 8. If, on such inquest or other evidence, it shall appear to the court, that the mansion-house of any proprietor, or the offices, curtilages, or garden thereto immediately belonging, or orchards, will be overflowed, or that the health of the neighbours will be materially annoyed, they shall not give leave to build said mill and dam; but if these injuries are not likely to ensue, leave shall be given as aforesaid. ^{Ib. Sec. 6.} If any person shall think himself aggrieved by the determination of the county court, he may appeal therefrom to the next superior court for the district in which the land lies; which court shall take cognizance of the same, and confirm or reverse such order, and give such judgment therein as may appear reasonable and right.¹ ^{Ib. Sec. 7.} Parties may appeal to circuit court.

§ 9. If the party applying obtain leave to build said mill and dam, he shall, upon paying respectively to the several parties entitled to receive the same, the value of the acre so located, and the damages which the jurors find will be done by overflowing the lands, above or below, or both, by the ditch or canal, become seized in fee-simple of said acre of land, and as much as may be necessary for such ditch or canal: but if he shall not, within one year thereafter, begin to build the said mill, and finish the same within three years, and afterwards continue it in good repair for public use; or in case the said mill or dam be destroyed, he shall not commence the rebuilding within one year after such destruction, and finish it within three years, the said acre shall revert to the former proprietor, and his heirs, unless at the time of such destruction of the said mill or dam, the owner thereof be an infant, feme covert, imprisoned, or of unsound mind, in which case he shall be allowed the same terms for commencing and completing the said mill or dam, after such disability is removed. ^{Ib. Sec. 7.} One acre to be conveyed on payment of damages. Time allowed for commencing and completing the work.

§ 10. When any owner of a mill established by law, may think it necessary to raise his dam, the clerk of the county court of the county wherein the pond lies, upon application to him, shall grant a second writ of ad quod damnum, to value the additional damage done thereby, and under the same rules and regulations as hereinbefore directed. ^{Ib. Sec. 8.} Raising dam higher.

§ 11. It shall be the duty of all owners of mills, or persons employed in keeping a mill within this state, who shall grind grain for toll, to grind each turn in rotation as it is received in the mill, and shall grind all grain well, if water will permit, and may take and receive one-eighth part of the grain so ground for toll, and no more. ^{1830—(7)} To grind in rotation. One-eighth lawful toll.

§ 12. If any person or persons shall commit any offence against the provisions of this act, he, she, or they shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars, with costs, for every such offence, to be recovered before any justice of the peace in the county where such offence may be committed; and the money so recovered shall be paid over to the person who may sue for the same: Provided, That nothing in this act shall prohibit any owner of a mill from grinding his own grain at any time. ^{Ib. Sec. 2.} Penalty. Owner of mill may grind his own grain at any time.

§ 1. It shall be the duty of the justices of the county courts, in their respective counties, annually to appoint one or more overseers of the poor in each captain's district, to serve for the term of one year, or until another overseer shall be appointed, and the judge and commissioners may fill vacancies in the office of overseers of the poor as often as they may occur; and any person so appointed, who shall refuse or neglect to serve as overseer of the poor, unless disqualified by age or infirmity, of which the justices shall judge, shall forfeit and pay fifty dollars, to be recovered with costs, by action of debt, in any court having competent jurisdiction, for the use of the county: Provided, That no person holding any office or employment under the government shall be compelled to serve as overseer of the poor, so long as he holds the same. In case of the refusal or inability of any person to serve as overseers of the poor, it shall be lawful for any three justices, during the vacation of the county court, to appoint a new overseer of the poor for the remainder of the year, in room of the said person unable or refusing to serve; which new overseer shall be subject to the same duties and penalties which were obligatory upon the person appointed overseer by the county court: and every overseer so nominated and appointed shall, immediately after his nomination, take an oath or affirmation before any judge or justice, that he will discharge the duties of overseer of the poor, truly, faithfully, and impartially, to the best of his knowledge and ability.

§ 2. It shall be the duty of the overseers of the poor, each in his respective district, to provide for the indigent, lame, blind, and others, not able to maintain themselves; and may also provide houses, nurses, and physicians, in such cases as they shall think necessary; the expenses of which shall be provided for in the annual county levy: and it shall be lawful for the overseers of the poor to contract with any person or persons for keeping, maintaining, and employing any or all such poor persons, and take the benefit of their work, labor, or service, towards their maintenance and support. If any poor person shall refuse to be lodged, kept, maintained, and employed, in such manner as the overseers shall direct, he or she shall be struck off from the overseer's list, and shall not be entitled to receive relief from the overseers during such refusal. The said overseers shall make fair entries in a book, of the names of all the poor within their respective districts, with the time when each of them became chargeable, together with the amount of all charges, costs, and expenses incurred under the direction of the said overseers; which book and accounts they shall be obliged to present twice in every year, for the inspection of the justices assembled in their county courts. And if the said justices shall approve the accounts of any such overseers, they shall issue a certificate to that effect, directing the county treasurer to pay the amount thereof to such person or persons to whom the same may be lawfully due.

§ 3. If any poor person shall suppose that he or she is entitled to the benefit of the laws for the relief of the poor, which may have been refused by the overseer, such person may apply to the county court, or during the recess, to any two justices, who are authorized, if they shall think proper, to direct the overseer to receive him or her upon the list of the poor, which overseer is bound to yield obedience to the directions of the said court or justices.

Poor persons refused relief may apply to county court.

§ 4. The overseers shall take measures to prevent the poor from strolling from one district into another, and may make complaint before any justice that any poor person is come into their county, and is likely to become chargeable thereto; whereupon it shall be lawful for such justice, by warrant under his hand, to cause such poor person to be removed to the county where he or she was last settled: Provided, That such poor person hath not been resident for six months last past in the county from which it is proposed to remove him or her. But if such poor person be sick or disabled, and cannot be removed without danger of life, the overseer shall provide for his or her maintenance and cure, at the charge of his or her county, and after recovery, shall cause him or her to be removed; and the county wherein he or she was legally settled, shall repay all charges occasioned by the sickness, maintenance, and cure of such poor person, and for removing him or her; and also all charges or expenses if such person shall die before removal: and it shall be the duty of the overseer of the district to which the person belongs, to receive and provide for the person or persons so removed; and in case of refusal, the said person or persons may apply to any two justices of the county for relief, as hereinbefore directed. The overseer who shall have made the disbursement, being furnished with a certificate of the said expenditure by the justices of the county court of his proper county, shall apply to the justices of the county court to which the said poor person or persons shall belong; which said justices last mentioned, are hereby directed to draw an order on the treasurer of their proper county for the reimbursement of the said expenses.

son to whom such apprentice shall be bound, shall engage by a covenant, to be entered in the indenture, to provide the apprentice with a sufficiency of good and wholesome provisions, necessary clothing, washing, and lodging; to teach the said apprentice the business or occupation which he pursues for a livelihood, and also to read, write, and to cipher as far as the rule of three; and at the expiration of said apprenticeship, to furnish the said apprentice with two complete new suits of clothing. It shall be lawful for the said court, upon the complaint of the overseers of the poor, or of any apprentice, by themselves or friends, against their masters or mistresses, to hear and determine; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court, that such complaint be well founded, and of sufficient magnitude to make a removal necessary, the court shall have power to remove such apprentice, and to bind him or her to such other person as they shall think proper.

If any person commanding a ship, vessel, or boat, shall import into this territory, or bring to the shores thereof, any infant, lunatic, maimed, aged, infirm person, or vagrant, who may be adjudged likely to become chargeable to the territory, it shall be lawful for any justice of the county court, or for any magistrate of a corporation court, to compel such person commanding such vessel, to give sufficient security to indemnify the inhabitants of this territory from any charge that may come, or be brought upon them, by such infant, lunatic, maimed, aged, infirm, or vagrant person, coming into, or living within this territory, or otherwise to transport such person beyond the limits of this territory.

§ 9. Whenever, on any criminal prosecution, it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court, that there can be no reasonable expectation, that the family of the prisoner will be brought up in honest courses, it shall be the duty of such court to certify the same to the overseers of the poor for the district in which such family may reside, provided the same be within the limits of the jurisdiction of such court; and the said overseers shall thereupon bind out the children of such person, to honest, respectable, and virtuous citizens, for the same periods of time, and under the same conditions for their instruction and maintenance, as in other cases of orphans and poor children, and return the indentures to the next county court, and likewise certify to the said superior court, their doings therein.

Whereas, it is intended that impartial justice should be had and administered to all the citizens of this territory, as well to the poor as to the rich: And whereas, poor citizens are not of ability or power to sue according to the laws of this land, for redress of injuries and wrongs to them done, as well concerning their persons and inheritance as other causes:—For remedy thereof, in behalf of the poor persons of this land, not able to sue for their relief after the course of the law:

§ 10. Be it enacted, &c. That every poor person who shall have cause of action against any person within this territory, shall have, by the discretion of the court, before whom he would sue, writ or writs original, and writs of subpœna, according to the nature of his cause, nothing paying for the same; and the said court shall direct their clerk to issue the necessary process; shall assign to him counsel learned in the laws, and appoint all other officers requisite and necessary to be had for the speed of the said suit, who shall do their duties without any reward for their counsels, help, and business in the same.

§ 11. The judge of the county court, together with the commissioners of roads and revenue, in each county, shall annually set apart such portion of the county tax as they shall deem necessary, for the purpose of creating a fund for the support of paupers within such county; which fund shall be kept separate by the county treasurer; and no money shall be drawn or paid out of said fund, except by order of said judge, for the support of the poor within the county; and in that case it shall be paid to an overseer of the poor, to be by him applied to the purpose for which it is intended: and all overseers aforesaid are hereby required, at the end of the term for which they are appointed, to render an account to the said judge and commissioners, of the manner in which he or they have disposed of the sum or sums of money by them received out of the poor fund the preceding year; and in case any overseer shall neglect or refuse to render such account to the judge and commissioners, as hereby required, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every such neglect or refusal, to be sued for by the county treasurer, for the use of the poor of each county.

The taxes imposed by virtue of this act, shall be preferred to all incumbrances and securities whatever: and if any person between the time of rendering a list of his taxable property to the assessor, and the time at which the collector is authorized to make distress, shall be about to remove without the limits of his county, the collector upon receiving information thereof, shall immediately make distress of the goods and chattels of the person about to remove, sufficient to satisfy the amount of taxes that he may owe, and sell the same upon giving the notice herein before directed, in the case of goods and chattels; and all taxes assessed on any person or persons under this act, shall be a lien upon his real property lying within the county in which the assessment was made, from the first day of January of that year.¹

§ 38. Every collector of the territorial or county taxes who shall sell any real estate to satisfy any tax imposed by lawful authority, shall execute to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, a deed of conveyance immediately, which deed shall be good and effectual both in law and equity; and in every such deed, the collector making the same shall recite, that the real estate thereby conveyed, was sold for taxes, and the consideration; but no deed given in manner aforesaid, shall be recorded until the expiration of one year from the date thereof, but may nevertheless be proved; and if the person whose estate may have been sold and conveyed as aforesaid, or his or her heirs, executors, or administrators, or his or her agent or attorney, shall within the year tender to the purchaser, his or her heirs, executors, or administrators, or his or her agent or attorney, or in case of his, her, or their absence from the territory, then to the collector of the taxes, who sold and conveyed such real estate, the consideration money paid for the same, and amount of all subsequent taxes that shall have been paid on such real estate, with interest thereon from the dates of such payments, at the rate as stipulated in the eleventh section of this act,² until such tender be made, the deed given for such real estate thus sold and conveyed shall be thereby vacated and made void, and the deed be given up.

§ 39. When the time shall have expired within which the lists of taxable property are to be received, it shall be the duty of the assessor of taxes to ascertain whether there be any lands or town lots within his county, sold under the authority of the United States, previous to

¹ Although the taxes imposed by this act (1815—(15),) have been abolished by the various revenue laws passed from time to time, the provisions of this section are conceived to be of a permanent nature, and to apply to collections under the existing revenue laws, however modified. It is to be observed that the latter clause giving a lien on real property from the first day of January, is in accordance with a previous section of the act, which rendered the owners or possessors of property on the first day of January, liable for the taxes of that year. Hence, if applicable to the present law, the reason and intention of the enactment, would create a lien only from the first day of March.—See § 15.

§ 40. The collectors of taxes in the several counties shall, at the time and in the manner prescribed by law,^a make distress and sale of the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of all delinquents, in making returns of taxable property, or in payment of taxes; and in cases of taxes assessed in the manner directed in the preceding section, on lands or town lots, to which a complete title has not been obtained, and in which other property sufficient to satisfy the taxes due, together with all costs and charges accruing thereon, cannot be found, it is hereby expressly made the duty of the respective collectors of taxes to give notice by advertisement at the door of the court-house of the proper county, and at two other public places within the county, that on a certain day (which shall be at least thirty days after the date of said advertisement,) he shall, at the court-house of his county, offer for rent the town lot or lots, or so much of the land or lots, (as the case may be,) and for such term, as may be necessary to satisfy the taxes due, and costs and charges thereon; and he shall accordingly offer for rent, to the highest bidder, until the first day of January succeeding the January immediately ensuing, the town lot or lots, or such portion of the lands, (as the case may be,) and he may designate, beginning in the case of lands with ten acres, or with as much less than ten acres as may be necessary to pay said tax and costs; or by adding ten acres thereto, as often as may be necessary to obtain by such rent, a sufficient sum to satisfy the taxes and costs; and in case the town lot or lots, or lands, cannot be rented for a sufficient sum on the terms aforesaid, they shall be offered for two years, from the first day of January immediately ensuing, or until a complete title to the same shall be produced, or the same shall be forfeited to the United States: Provided, That the production of a complete title shall, in every case aforesaid, entitle the owner to the possession of the premises, upon reimbursing the amount paid for taxes, and charges thereon, to the party by whom such payment has been made, and saving to the occupant the crop which may be on the premises; and should the rent in any case exceed the amount of taxes and charges, the right owner of the town lot or lots, or land, (as the case may be,) shall be entitled to receive the overplus.

§ 41. The collectors of taxes, respectively shall, by an instrument of writing, convey to the party renting the premises as aforesaid, the use thereof for and during the time for which they were rented; and shall, in addition to the compensation allowed by law, be entitled to receive two dollars for executing every such instrument of writing; and such instrument conveying the use of the premises as aforesaid, shall be good and sufficient both in law and equity: Provided, That whenever the collector shall find the tenant in possession, who may refuse to pay tax, or render possession of the premises, which may be thus taxed and unpaid, he shall have full power to proceed instantly in the same manner as is or may be authorized in cases of forcible entry and detainer; and the refusal of the tenant in possession, to render peaceable possession of the premises on demand, shall be considered as evidence of forcible detainer.

§ 42. The tax collector shall be authorized, and he is hereby required, to convey by deed any land he may sell under the provisions of this act, when a complete title has been obtained: Provided, The owner or owners of any lands sold for taxes, may redeem the same at any time within twelve months, by the proper owner or owners, or their agents, paying the amount of taxes and costs paid by the purchaser, with interest at the rate of twenty-five per centum per annum, from the day of sale until said redemption, and costs.

§ 43. Where any collector shall have advertised for sale any lands or tenements to raise the taxes due, and the lands or tenements thus advertised could not be sold for want of bidders, he may adjourn any such sale from time to time, until the same shall be sold; and any sale made on any adjourned day, shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as if the same had been made on the day mentioned in the advertisement.

§ 44. The assessor shall make out three copies of his assessment, one of which he shall retain for his own use, one to be transmitted by him to the comptroller, on or before the first day of September, and one to be filed with the clerk of the county court. The copy for the comptroller, shall first be submitted by the assessor to said county court clerk, to be compared, who shall certify thereon, that the said copy has been duly compared with, and is a correct duplicate of that filed in his office. Any assessor failing to comply with the requisitions of this act, shall forfeit and pay the sum of one thousand dollars, recoverable in any court having competent jurisdiction; one half to the person suing for the same, and the other half to the use of the state.

§ 45. Any assessor of taxes, who shall fail to return his tax-list to the office of the comptroller of public accounts, on or before the time he is by law required, shall forfeit to the state the sum of one thousand dollars; and the comptroller's certificate of such failure, directed to the sheriff of the county wherein it may happen, shall have the force and effect of an execution, and the sheriff shall proceed to detain and sell in the manner provided by law for the collection of the state and county taxes, any goods, chattels, lands or tenements belonging to the assessor or his securities, and shall account to the comptroller for the same, within three months after said certificate came into his hands, or be liable in the same manner as for failing to pay over moneys collected on execution; and in case the said assessor shall fail to forward his tax-list within one month after the first failure happened, he shall forfeit the additional sum of one thousand dollars, to be collected in the manner pointed out in the foregoing part of this section; and a like forfeiture for each succeeding month during which he may be a defaulter; which sum shall be recoverable on motion of the comptroller before the circuit court of Tuscaloosa county, made by the attorney general against such defaulting assessor and his securities; which motion shall be made at the first term after such failure by any assessor: Provided, That the comptroller shall give to such delinquent assessor and his securities, at least thirty days' notice, by advertisement in some newspaper printed in Tuscaloosa; and he shall, moreover give to such assessor and his securities notice in writing, which shall be directed to them separately by mail, and which notice shall be deposited in the post-office at Tuscaloosa, at least thirty days previous to the time of making such motion.¹

§ 47. The justices of the quorum in each county shall, on the second Monday in September, in each year, hold at their court-houses respectively, a special court for the purpose of examining the amount of insolvencies that may be returned by the collectors of their respective counties, and shall certify such allowance as to them may seem fair and just, to the auditor of public accounts, who shall allow the same so certified to the collector, in a settlement of his account. The said court shall further have power to grant relief to such persons as may have been improperly taxed or over-taxed by the assessor, and upon certifying the same, as in the case of insolvencies, the auditor of public accounts, shall allow the same to the collector in settlement of his account. And if any person to whom relief may be granted in the manner aforesaid, shall not have paid the same to the collector, he shall be exonerated from the same; and if he shall have paid them, the collector shall refund the same amount to him; and the auditor at the time of settlement with the collectors respectively, shall suspend any proceedings against any collector, for any amount of taxes due on lands that may be then advertised for sale, until after such day of sale.

§ 48. When the special court directed by the thirteenth section of the act entitled "An Act to raise a revenue,"¹ may not have been held in any county, or from any other cause the collector may not have had his list of insolvencies allowed and certified, the auditor of public accounts is authorized and required to allow to the collector of such county, for all such delinquencies as shall be made satisfactorily to appear to him ought to have been allowed by such court.

§ 49. If the justices of any county court shall fail to hold a court as directed above, it shall be the duty of the next county court of such county, to make such allowance to the collector, as he may make appear to be reasonable and just: Provided, That the county court shall not certify any account of insolvencies to any collector who may already have had one list of insolvencies certified.

§ 50. The auditor of public accounts is required to make an allowance to any collector of the revenue for any moneys with which he may stand charged, and which may be made satisfactorily to appear were improperly assessed; and when any collector may use due diligence to collect the tax due from any person or persons, by exposing for sale, his, her, or their lands or tenements, and the same shall not have been sold for want of bidders, such collector shall not be bound to account for the same, until he may have collected the same.

§ 51. § 2. It shall not be lawful for any housekeeper within this territory, to harbor or entertain any idle person of a suspicious character knowingly, for any longer time than twenty-four hours, under the penalty of ten dollars for every such offence, to be recovered by warrant before any justice of the peace of the county where the offence shall be committed.

APPENDIX.

NO. I.

RULES OF PROCEEDINGS AND PRACTICE IN THE COURTS.

At a supreme court begun and held at the capitol, in Tuscaloosa, on the first Monday in July, 1830, the court proceeded to ordain and establish rules and regulations for the government of the proceedings and practice of the several courts of record in this state, as follows, viz :

GENERAL RULES.

I. THE clerk of every court of record in the state, shall keep in court, in term time, and in his office in vacation, a book to be called, the Book of Appearances. Any attorney or solicitor desiring to appear in any civil cause, shall make in said book, or cause to be made therein by the clerk, an entry of his name, stating the cause in which he appears, (and if there be several of the same name, its number or other mark of identity,) the party or person for whom he appears, and the date of such entry. Such entry shall be considered an appearance of record. The counsel whose name shall be so first entered, shall be considered the leading counsel in the cause, for the party or person for whom he so appears, until he abandon the cause, and then the counsel whose appearance shall be next in date, and so on. Such notices, &c. as are authorized to be served on the attorney of a party, shall be served on his leading counsel.

II. No one shall be permitted to appear in a cause as counsel or attorney, unless he has been employed therein, and his appearance has been entered as aforesaid, or unless he represent other counsel whose appearance has been so entered, or may have the special leave of the court.

III. Counsel shall be considered as having abandoned a cause, by entry to that effect, by failing at two successive terms of the court to appear or be represented therein, by removal from the state, by quitting the practice, or by death, in any of which, and in such other cases as the court may direct, the clerk may enter such abandonment on the book of appearances.

IV. The attorney's fee taxed in the bill of costs, shall be taxed in the name of the leading counsel at the time of final trial.

V. All declarations, pleas, bills, answers, assignments of errors, joinders in error, briefs, &c. must be signed by counsel where counsel is employed.

RULES OF PRACTICE IN THE SUPREME COURT.

I. In assigning errors, it shall be sufficient to state concisely in writing, in what the error consists. The words "there is no error in the record," shall be a sufficient joinder in error.

II. On application to the court, additional assignments may be filed at any time before joinder, but after joinder such only as will affect the merits of the controversy.

III. Each cause (not being within the rule concerning delay cases, nor the rule concerning criminal cases) must be called and tried according to its order on the docket, unless for good cause shown, it be continued or passed over.

IV. A list of the authorities to be used in the argument of any cause, shall, if applied for, be furnished to the counsel for the adverse party, one day before the trial, otherwise they shall not be read or commented on in the argument on behalf of the party so in default, but they may be cited.

V. On the trial, the counsel for the plaintiff in error, or appellant, before he opens his argument, shall furnish to the court two briefs; succinctly stating therein, the material facts out of which the points in controversy arise, and referring to the authorities on which he relies; and shall not be heard in argument unless such briefs be furnished. He may be answered by the counsel for the defendant, who may be replied to by the counsel for the plaintiff, and this shall end all discussion.

VI. No authority which was not read in the opening argument, shall be read in the conclusion, unless by leave of the court, or to rebut authority introduced by the adverse counsel.

VII. The clerk shall keep a list or roll of all attorneys of this court, entering their names in the order in which they were admitted.

VIII. Special motions shall be heard on each Thursday of the term; and for this purpose the clerk shall call over the names of the attorneys, beginning with the attorney-general, and proceeding with the others according to their order on the roll.

IX. The clerk shall keep a motion docket, in which shall be entered all motions for argument which are not ex parte, or of course. In such entry, the nature and particular grounds of the motion shall be designated, and at least one day before the hearing of the motion the entry shall be shown to the counsel for the adverse party, or he shall have such written notice as will enable him to refer to it.

X. On the second Thursday of each term, after the motions have been heard, the criminal causes shall be called, and shall be in order until all are disposed of; but the court, for sufficient reason shown, may postpone any such cause until another day. In such causes, the party seeking to reverse, shall assign errors and furnish briefs.

XI. On any motion day, if the counsel for the defendant in error, or appellee, state that it is his belief that the case is brought into this court merely for delay, the record shall be submitted to the court without argument on either side. If the court on examining the record, consider it to be a delay case, the judgment shall be affirmed; but if it appear to be doubtful or difficult, or if when so offered to be submitted, or at any time during the term, the counsel for the plaintiff in error, or appellant, state to the court, that it is his opinion that on more full examination the judgment will be reversed or corrected, it shall not be so affirmed; or if such judgment of affirmance has been entered, it shall be set aside, and the case shall stand over for argument in its regular order.

XII. In cases where the judges are equally divided in their opinions, the judgment of the court below shall be affirmed; but if the judges whose opinions shall be against affirming, so request, the case shall be retained for one term only.

XIII. A certiorari to perfect or to bring up a complete record, may be awarded at the first term on motion of either party: if its object be to sustain a judgment, without a showing; but if to reverse a judgment, a sufficient showing must be made.

XIV. The clerk may permit either of the attorneys concerned in a cause to take the record and papers thereof from the clerk's office, to be returned at such time as by the rules of the office may be directed.

XV. The public examinations for licenses to practise law, shall be on the first Tuesday and on each Saturday of the term.

RULES OF PRACTICE IN THE CIRCUIT AND COUNTY COURTS.

I. The clerk shall enter all causes on the appearance docket, according to the order in which the writs were received by the sheriff.

II. He shall keep a separate docket, in which shall be entered all motions made during the term, (not incidental to the cause,) in the order of time in which they are made, and they shall be called in the same order.

III. He shall keep on his table when the court is sitting, and at all other times in his office, a memorandum book, in which the attorneys may respectively enter precipes and other directions to him.

IV. On every final judgment and decree rendered during the term, (unless the party to be benefited thereby or his attorney shall in writing otherwise direct,) the clerk shall issue execution as soon after the adjournment as the law will permit.

V. An attorney may be security for costs, but shall not be bail for his client, either in a civil or a criminal case.

VI. To every scire facias returned "made known," the defendant shall plead within the first two days of the term to which the same is returned, the plaintiff shall reply on the day next thereafter, and so on from day to day until issue in fact or in law be joined; but either party may demand a trial at the return term, although the court may not continue in session three days.

VII. When oyer of any instrument which is the foundation of the action is demanded, and notice thereof given to the attorney for the plaintiff, oyer shall be granted within two days thereafter; unless the instrument be out of the possession of the plaintiff, and a subpœna duces tecum be necessary, in which case oyer shall be granted on the return of the subpœna, duly executed, and in default thereof, in either case judgment of non pros. shall be entered. When oyer of letters testamentary or letters of administration is demanded, it shall be granted on or before the first day of the term next after the return of the writ, but the trial shall not on that account be delayed.

VIII. When the action is on any instrument purporting to have been signed by the defendant, and within the time prescribed for pleading, he shall give notice to produce it, it shall within one day thereafter be produced for his inspection. In default thereof, nonsuit may be entered, unless sufficient excuse be shown.

IX. Defaults may be entered on the docket in vacation, which shall relate to the preceding term, and advantage thereof may be claimed at the next term.

X. After a default has been duly entered, the party claiming the benefit thereof shall not be bound to receive any plea or pleading of the party so in default.

XI. On timely application, on affidavit showing merits and sufficient matter of excuse, a default may be set aside on such terms as the court may impose.

XII. No plea in abatement shall be received if objected to, unless by the endorsement of the clerk it appear to have been filed within the time allowed for pleading.

XIII. A motion to quash an attachment, appeal or process, must be made at the first term at which it can be made, and not afterwards.

XIV. No private agreement or consent between the parties or their attorneys, relating to the proceedings in any cause, shall be alleged or suggested by either against the other, unless the same be in writing and signed by the party to be bound thereby.

XV. The docket of civil causes for trial shall be called absolutely on the first day of the term, unless the presiding judge shall order otherwise. Each cause shall be taken up according to its priority on the docket, and tried or continued. If passed over, it shall not be called again during the term, until all the other causes for trial have been disposed of.

XVI. The party applying for a continuance of any civil action, must state in the affidavit, the names and place of residence of the absent witness or witnesses; what diligence he has used to obtain his or their testimony; and what he expects to prove thereby. If the adverse party will admit what it is so alleged such absent witness will swear, the cause shall not be continued by reason of the absence of such testimony. After the first continuance, such other showing must be made, and such terms may be imposed, as to the court shall seem proper.

XVII. No cause shall be continued twice in succession by consent of parties.

XVIII. On trial, only one counsel on each side shall examine a witness.

XIX. If the counsel for the plaintiff waives the right of opening the argument, he shall not have the right of concluding.

XX. Whenever a change of venue shall be awarded, the clerk shall subjoin to the original papers, a transcript of all entries relating to the suit; and by some discreet person send the whole enclosed under seal, to the clerk of the court to which the case is ordered to be removed. Such messenger on producing the receipt of the clerk to whom the papers, &c. have been so sent, shall be entitled to receive from the clerk by whom he was employed, five cents per mile for going and for returning from the one clerk's office to the other. The clerk shall not be bound to transfer said papers, &c. until the party obtaining the change of venue has deposited with him a sum sufficient to pay the compensation of the messenger as aforesaid.

XXI. A particular day in each term shall be set apart for hearing motions, but they may be heard at an earlier day by leave of the court.

XXII. Reasons in arrest of judgment, and reasons for new trial, and the affidavits in support thereof, if any are relied on, shall be filed with the clerk, and notice thereof be given to the adverse party one day before the argument. If the cause is tried on the last day of the term, the notice shall be given when the motion is entered. The party making such motion is entitled to the opening and conclusion of the argument. All such motions, not acted on, or continued by order of the court, are to be considered as discharged of course on the last day of the term.

XXIII. In cases brought from a county court, into a circuit court, by writ of error or appeal, the rules of the supreme court, so far as applicable, shall be in force in the circuit court.

RULES OF PRACTICE IN CHANCERY.

I. WHERE it is satisfactorily shown, by affidavit to the bill, or by other means, that a defendant resides out of the state, an order of publication may be made at the first term.

II. An injunction to stay proceedings at law, either before or after judgment, shall in no case issue, until bond and security have been given, in such sum, and with such condition, as the judge may direct. On awarding an injunction for any other purpose, it shall be in the discretion of the judge to require security or not.

III. All bills for injunction shall be filed with the clerk, within twenty days after obtaining the fiat therefor, and not afterwards. The clerk shall issue the writ of injunction immediately after the terms on which it was awarded shall have been complied with.

IV. If the complainant shall not, before the second term after filing his bill, have taken measures to bring in the defendant, his bill shall be dismissed.

V. Where a defendant resides out of the state, on the application of his solicitor, the clerk shall issue a commission directed to one or more persons, to take and certify his answer. The affidavit to the answer shall be attached thereto, sworn to and subscribed by the defendant, before such commissioners, or one of them, and so certified by him or them. Where an affidavit to the bill or petition of a party residing out of the state is necessary, it may be taken and certified in like manner. The answer of a foreign corporation, taken according to law, may be certified by commissioners appointed in like manner.

VI. All demurrers shall state the matters of objection to the bill. If a demurrer be overruled, the defendant shall forthwith put in a full and sufficient answer.

VII. A defendant may at any time move to dismiss a bill, or to dissolve an injunction, for want of equity. When exceptions to an answer for insufficiency have been filed and disallowed, the injunction shall thereby be dissolved without motion or further argument.

VIII. The unsuccessful party in a demurrer to a bill, exceptions to an answer, motion to dismiss a bill, or to dissolve an injunction, shall pay the costs thereof, unless the court shall otherwise order.

IX. When a hearing is brought on by consent on bill and answer, the answer shall be taken as true.

X. Testimony shall be taken by interrogatories. Either party may obtain a commission to examine witnesses, either in or out of the state, by filing interrogatories in the clerk's office, and serving the adverse party with a copy thereof, at least ten days before the commission issues. If the adverse party, within ten days after so receiving a copy of the interrogatories, shall not file cross interrogatories, the commission may be issued ex parte. Filing cross interrogatories shall be considered an acknowledgment of notice.

XI. The testimony of witnesses shall be written in presence of the commissioners. A solicitor for either party shall not be a commissioner, or write the deposition.

XII. Testimony de bene esse may be taken before answer filed, if the complainant make affidavit that the proof of a material fact depends on the testimony of the witness, or that the witness is aged, or very infirm, or about to remove from the state, and give notice as in other cases. If the emergency is such as will not admit of delay, the court or the clerk may appoint the time of taking and the notice to be given.

XIII. The complainant in a bill of interpleader, intending to take testimony, must give notice to all the parties required to interplead.

XIV. Testimony taken by interrogatories and cross interrogatories, fully answered, may be used by either party. Where a party, having had an opportunity to cross-examine, fails so to do, he shall not afterwards have a commission to examine the same witness on the same points, unless by special order of the court, or of a judge in vacation; nor shall a re-examination of a witness as to the same points be allowed, unless by order of the court and on special showing.

XV. Depositions shall be sealed up with the commission by the commissioners, with the name of the cause endorsed on the envelope, and the packet shall be directed to the clerk. The publication of any deposition must be by order on the minutes of the court, or by consent in writing signed by the parties or their counsel.

XVI. When a cause is called for hearing, if the complainant does not appear, it shall be dismissed : if he appear, and the defendant does not, it shall be heard and a decree rendered according to the claim and proof. Either party, on timely application, may set aside his default, on such terms as the court shall impose.

XVII. At the hearing of every cause, the complainant's counsel shall furnish to the court a brief containing a succinct statement of the material facts stated in the bill, answer, exhibits and testimony ; the points raised, and the authorities on which he intends to rely. If he fail to furnish such brief, he shall not be heard in argument.

XVIII. A final decree shall be called in question before the court rendering it by bill of review only ; and shall never be impeached by original bill, unless on the ground of fraud.

XIX. The clerk shall keep a rule-book, in which the solicitors shall respectively enter all motions for re-hearing, and motions to set aside orders or decrees made for want of answer. The entry shall be sufficient notice of any such motion. The motion for re-hearing must be made at the same term at which the decree is rendered. A defendant must, at the time of entering a motion to set aside an order or decree made on his default, file with the clerk a full and sufficient answer.

XX. Any bill for discovery, in aid of a claim or defence at law, being ancillary to the common law proceeding, shall be filed therewith, and disposed of when the case at law is called.

XXI. Where a suit at law and a bill in chancery are instituted for the same claim or demand, the defendant, on suggestion supported by affidavit, may move the court to inspect the records, and if it appear that the two suits are for one and the same cause of action, it shall be ordered that the plaintiff elect in which he will proceed, and that he dismiss the other.

XXII. In cases which may be revived by scire facias, on suggestion of the adverse party to the clerk in vacation, he may issue a scire facias to bring in as parties, the representatives of such as may have died pending the suit.

XXIII. The sessions of the clerk as master in chancery, shall be held at his office, unless by consent of parties he appoint a different place. He shall determine as to the time and duration thereof, and issue all notices to the parties interested in his investigations.

XXIV. Exceptions to testimony admitted by the master, must be taken before him, and certified in his report. If not so taken, the exception is waived.

XXV. The clerk shall conduct all sales made under decree of the court, unless the decree otherwise direct, and the court shall fix his compensation therefor.

XXVI. The rules of practice in chancery in England, so far as consistent with the laws of this state and the rules made under them, shall be in force in cases not provided for by these rules.
